OUTLINES OF ENGLISH PLAN ARE DISCUSSED Outlines of the English plan for carrying over stockbrokers' loans by banks and other institutions in London came in for considerable discussion to-day. These plans are understood to include a five-point margin on gittedred securities with a ten-point margin on others, loans to sand at the prices of July 27, until peace is declared, or one year afterward, but subject to call if the market value of the securities rises to the level of July 27 prices in the meantime. Margins can be settled in cash or securities, or, in the absence of either, arrangements may be made to carry the loans at higher rates of interest. It is expected that similar advantages would be extended by the members of the London exchange to their customers.

There was a marked improvement in the Boston market to-day. Many selling orders were cancelled, and prices for local shares were distinctly firmer.

Transactions through the committee of the clearing-house of the Stock Exchange here showed an increase over previous weeks, all dealing of course, being conducted at the closing prices of July 39.

In the bond market there is a good demand, prices displaying a strong tone. "Open the Stock exchange for cash business." Is the Wall Street slogan. The speciacle of 109 brokers in New Street activity trading in all the prominent stocks is a speciacle not to be telerated indefinitely.

New York, November 4—Wail Street temporarily abandoned its interest in international affairs to-day to consider the outcome of the elections. With the stock market still under closure, there was no way loi measuring the significance of the overturn in terms of security values, but conservatives opinion inclined to the belief that under normal conditions, the market would have responded with a vigorous unturn of prices.

On the other hand, it was regarded as a debatable question whether these political conditions would not have been largely neutralized by the latest victories of the German navy. Those were accompanied by singular the state of the Health of of the

In token of their pleasure at becoming part of a greater Richmond the citizens' associations of Highland Park and Woodland Heights recently entertained the members of the Administrative Board at love feasts in which the commissioners were asked to announce what projects thay had immediately in hand for the new territory. They promised to abide by the terms of the annexation ordinance, though they pointed out that it would be impossible to begin permanent improvements unto begin permanent improvements until the funds were forthcoming.

Money can be appropriated only through the City Council, which is bound to afford the new members of Richmond's family adequate fire and police protection, generally regarded as the first important step to take. Improvements of the streets, the care of the public health, the building up of high school facilities, it was pointed out, must necessarily be of gradual growth, and these will be cared for as the need arises.

Though the sixteen additional police which have been recommended by the Finance Committee cannot be placed on the force until the money has been appropriated by the City Council. Major Werner made yesterday all the necessary arrangements so to dispose his force as to be able to respond to all calls in the new territory. He has now 152 men who are required to nolice nearly twenty-five square miles. police nearly twenty-five square miles of territory, a duty which he says wil give him serious concern until the de-partment is supplied with more patrol-

FOR MOTORIZATION

The Fire Department, in order to gone with the increased need, is asking that motorization of the department be extended, having found that motor-drawn apparatus is as much cheaper as it is quicker in answering calls. With more motor apparatus fewer men and fewer engine-houses will be needed. Having asked only enough for temporary needs, both departments will lay larger claim to the budget of next year, which itself will be increased by the taxable values from the new territory if the proposed bond issue be authorized.

The whole town thought that a vig conflagration was in progress, and turned out to help fight the flames. When the people found that it was only the fire of enthusiasm which was causing the alarum they joined in the acclaim, and every one had a pull at the bell rope. To-day there will be no ceremony. The clock will set the new machinery in motion, and a greater city will spring into being at the first stroke. It will be simplicity itself.

The French, English, Belgian and German representatives at Washington, in letters to Miss Booth, have heartily commended the project. While the scheme is called the "Old Linen Campaign," the name is generic, for it includes cotton goods, or any other material that may be utilled for bandages or handkerchiefs to be used by the men in the trenches and along the firing lines. The material is being the firing lines. The material is being gathered by Salvation Army workers throughout the United States, and in many cities womens social clubs have volunteered their services in the campaign. It is understood that Miss Booth will thoroughly explain the scheme during her visit here.

GET This In Your Mind:

A life insurance policy is better security now than it was a year or two years ago, because an Old Line, level premium life insurance company long established, like the "Old Virginia," as our Company is familiarly known by its policy-holders, is UNBREAKABLE. United States bonds, and some stock of some great banks, may be placed in the same rank, but how many men are there who by investing from twenty to fifty dollars could leave $1,000 to $2,000 in United States bonds or strong bank stock? But they can do this with a life insurance policy. If there ever was a time when life insurance could appeal to thrifty and sagacious men,
